

Strumstick

The smallest and most easy to learn Guitar. You do not need any complicated grip techniques or notes. The easiest way to play is to strike the lower string and pluck the accompanied upper strings (bordun). This plucked instrument is similar to a Turkish Saz or dulcimer. It is easy to play and allows both novice and experienced player to enjoy these kind of instruments. This is a perfect small-sized, light weight instrument for traveling; being on the beach, in the mountains and even when you're in a traffic jam.

The purchase of the Strumstick has been very productive. This fresh little three-string instrument appears on many of my recording-trace plans. It has a favorite place in the store room of my studio. To allow spontaneous recording it always has a modified pickup microphone on it, which was developed for acoustic guitars. It is tuned fast – Base tone-fifth and octave and the action with my rhythm stick is fun with the groove, (yeah...).
